

On April 18, we celebrate this well-traveled loud-mouth patriot who lies here

These twin statues are experiencing a pestilential crossing

MOTHER CHURCH
WOLHEB CHURCH

This statue is the mascot of a certain political party - a barnyard friend with four short legs and bronzed hide thick and hardy

It is instrumental to conduct yourself well here

Game-Wide Challenges:

While you hunt, there are two extra tasks that can put your team over the edge:

Paper Clip Trade - With the attached paper clip, trade up with strangers for a bigger and “better” item. Continue trading for the biggest and best!

Blob - Along the way, convince others to join your team.
Grow your team as big as possible before you return!

Señor Cloudy says,
“Please recycle!”

Boston's 1st Annual Scavenger Hunt

Hello Banditos,

Welcome to Boston's First Annual Scavenger Hunt.

As would be fitting for the city's quirky playmates, we've set up a less-than-conventional hunt. Instead of tracking down random items, you will be provided with clues that point to specific and often famous locations and landmarks in the city proper. Once there, you will have to locate a bandit in a light blue cloud shirt and complete a given task in order to get a stamp on this passport. You may pursue clues in any order you see fit. Each clue is worth one point, except bolded clues which are worth two. Additionally, there are two challenges unrelated to locations. They appear after the location clues. Just keep in mind, you will need to be back at the starting location at 4PM SHARP!

While you are out tracking down clues, please remember you will need to respect both public and private property and stick with your team to the very end.

Finally, this game, like all the ones we host, is less about winning than it is about having fun with the people around you: your teammates, members of other teams and strangers you'll meet on the street. So take time to introduce yourself to one another, smile, shake hands... and some dust!

Good luck _____!
(team name)

Eight brothers and sisters beloved by us all
Made a home in Boston, their parents: enthralled
When travel proved risky, the dangers too many
A constable came to help out this family

3.14159265 Backstreet

Despite the name, not a stamp in sight

Kidnapped lions have returned to their rightful place guarding the other side of the world

HV6441.H6 1981

While no longer so square and a little more official, this is the station where Charlie's wife passed him a sandwich every day

This center in Boston has the first three letters of the alphabet in its title. Isn't that creative?

When night descends on Boston town
A hopping bull might here be found:
A shallow hole in verdant lawn
A change in state with winter calm

One if by land two if by sea last seen here